| 1 | anonymous | yes |
| 2 | anonymous | After giving feedback, Steve gave a drawing class where we used our own 3d work to draw from. More of this would be helpful at the beginning of the design process as it sparks new ideas. |
| 3 | anonymous | Steve's session helped me to understand that a good sketchbook should be about having fun and freely exploring new ideas, and not something super stiff and structured |
| 4 | anonymous | Thoroughly enjoyed sessions - wish we had more earlier on in the project |

| 1 | anonymous | nice to do something together, make friends |
| 2 | anonymous | Steve showed us an activity where a group of us all drew on the same piece of paper, drawing over each others work. Again we were drawing from our own 3d work, and I found this incredibly helpful to see other pieces drawing styles and ideas come through all together. Again, at the beginning of the design process would've been more helpful |
| 3 | anonymous | having everyone come together to draw was a very fun and definitely lightened up the overall atmosphere in the classroom. it would be nice to do things like this more often |
| 4 | anonymous | Very fun and unique |
